

WESTERN AUSTRALIA CHILD PROTECTION REQUIREMENTS

This information is subject to change at any time. Refer to the Department of Community Development Working with Children Screening Unit website www.checkwwc.wa.gov.au or contact 1800 883 979. This information was updated on 1 April 2006.

From 1 January 2006, certain people working with children in Western Australia will be required to have a Working with Children Check (Check) – a national criminal history check and assessment of any record that appears as part of this check. The Check is compulsory under the Working with Children (Criminal Record Checking) Act 2004, and will be introduced progressively to different sectors over the next 5 years.

The Check will take into account convictions for any offence and charges for serious sexual and violent offences and will cost $10.00 for volunteers and unpaid workers and $50.00 for paid workers and self-employed people. These fees will be paid by the individual.

Applicants whose check is “successful” will be issued with either an ‘assessment notice’ in the form of an ID card which allows that person to work or volunteer with children across different types of ‘child-related work’. Applicants whose Check is “unsuccessful” will be issued with a ‘negative notice’, which prohibits any child-related work. In some cases an Interim Negative Notice may be issued while the screening process is completed. This means that you must not start or continue that person in ‘child-related work’ while the notice is current, and you can only start or continue that person in child-related work if they are later issued an Assessment Notice.

The Screening Unit must notify the employer, where known, of the outcome of applications for a Check.

Assessment notices will be valid for three years, unless the person has a “relevant change” in criminal record. If this occurs, the person is required to report this to their employer, who must then inform the Screening Unit, and a reassessment of the record takes place. The Police may also inform the Screening Unit where a person in child-related work has had a relevant change in criminal record.

Who needs to apply for a Check

People doing child-related work must have a Check by the date required under the phasing-in arrangements. The definition of child-related work, under Section 6 of the Working with Children (Criminal Record Checking) Act 2004 includes:

Work is child-related work if the usual duties of the work involve, or are likely to involve, contact with a child in connection with:

- an educational institution for children;

- a coaching or private tuition service of any kind, but not including an informal arrangement entered into for private or domestic purposes;
- a club, association or movement (including of a cultural, recreational or sporting nature and whether incorporated or not) with a significant membership or involvement of children, but not including an informal arrangement entered into for private or domestic purposes;
- an overnight camp.

Note that categories of work not relevant to the activities of our sport have not been listed above. A full list of the categories of child-related work is available on the Working with Children website (www.checkwwc.wa.gov.au) or by calling the Screening Unit on (08) 6217 8100.

General exemptions

The following people are exempt from the legislation and will not need to have a Check:

- volunteers under 18 years; employers of and fellow employees working with young people, so long as they are not otherwise in child-related work;
- parents volunteering where their child is also involved (This exemption does not apply to parents volunteering in connection with overnight camps);
- Short-term visitors to WA, for 2 weeks after their arrival, and for no more than 2 weeks in a 12 month period;
- People who carry out child-related work on no more than 5 days in a calendar year (except those working in child care services).

Specific Exemptions from Certain Categories of Child-Related Work

Obligations of employers, including organisations using volunteers include:

- You must not employ a person in child-related employment on more than five days in a calendar year unless he or she:
 - has applied for a Check, or
 - already holds a current Assessment Notice
 - by the date they are required to under the phasing-in arrangements.
- You must not employ someone in child-related employment if you are aware that he or she holds a Negative Notice or Interim Negative Notice.
- You must not employ a person in child-related employment if you are aware that the person has withdrawn his or her Check application.
- You must not employ a person in child-related employment if you are aware that he or she:
 - has a conviction or pending charge for a Class 1 or Class 2 offence, and
 - does not have a current Assessment Notice or an application for one
 - that is still being considered.
 - If an employee or volunteer reports a relevant change in criminal record to you, you must report this (in writing) to the Working with Children Screening Unit, as soon as practicable.
- If an employee or volunteer reports a relevant change in criminal record to you, you must report this (in writing) to the Working with Children Screening Unit, as soon as practicable.
- If you receive a written request from the Working with Children Screening Unit, you must provide information or documents to show your compliance with your obligations as an employer.

It is okay for employers to start someone in child-related work once they have applied for a Check in line with the phasing-in arrangements (outlined below) and while the Check is being processed. The employer does not have to wait until the card is issued. Safeguards are in place to ensure that the Screening Unit notifies the employer if, in the meantime, a Negative Notice or Interim Negative Notice is issued, or if the person subsequently withdraws their application.

Phasing-in Arrangements
